OLI: To plan a diary entry

The diagram illustrates the OLI (Observations, Feelings, Impressions) process for planning a diary entry. It consists of three main rectangular boxes and six circular nodes, all with horizontal lines for writing.

- Introduction: A large rectangular box on the top left.
- Main: A large rectangular box on the bottom right.
- Ending: A large rectangular box on the bottom left.

There are six circular nodes, each labeled with a word:

- Feelings: One circle at the top center, one at the top right, and one at the bottom center.
- Thoughts: One circle at the top right, one at the bottom left, and one at the bottom center.

Arrows indicate the flow of the process:

- Orange curved arrows connect the circles in a clockwise cycle: from the top-left Thoughts circle to the top-left Feelings circle, then to the top-right Thoughts circle, then to the top-right Feelings circle, then to the bottom-right Thoughts circle, then to the bottom-right Feelings circle, then to the bottom-center Thoughts circle, then to the bottom-center Feelings circle, then to the bottom-left Thoughts circle, and finally to the bottom-left Feelings circle.
- Thick black arrows show the main flow: from the Introduction: box to the Main: box, and from the Main: box to the Ending: box.
